Tania Soutonglang

CS 422-01

August 30, 2022

Homework 0 Exercise 1.1

Through this course I hope I get a better understanding of how we use data mining in our everyday lives since I want to be able to get into the field of artificial intelligence and machine learning. Although this course isn't meant to necessarily teach me how to use R, I'm always interested in getting at least a little experience in different languages in case I run into a project head that prefers one language over another.